Harvey House, 2002

Historic Overview:

The Harvey house was built in the Second Empire style in 1885. Built on a random ashlar stone foundation, it is a red brick building featuring multiple storied towers at each corner of the façade.

The original owner, John P. Harvey, was an important philanthropist. Harvey and his family were instrumental in educating and feeding the city's poor children from the end of the Civil War into the early 20th century<sup>1</sup>.
